LAW.

INSOLVENCY COURT.

MONDAY.

BEFORE Mr. Chief Commissioner DEFFELL.

IN THE ESTATE OF PATRICK CARROLL.

Special meeting for the examination of a witness. Adjourned until this day week.

RE THE STAR OF THE WEST GOLD MINING COMPANY.

This was an adjourned meeting to receive objections on the part of persons whom it was sought to make contributories. Mr. Richard Dransfield objected on the ground that he never signed the deed of settlement nor received scrip; that he never authorised any liability and never was a shareholder.

Mr. S. C. Brown appeared for the official assignee; Mr. Shepherd for Mr. Dransfield.

Mr. Brown stated that the case was somewhat peculiar, but arose (briefly) as follows: Originally this company was formed by Mr. Dransfield and two other gentlemen named Gordon and Campbell; but Dransfield sold the shares and received the money. After some time, however, the shareholders determined to form a regular limited company, and trustees, directors, &c., were appointed. Mr. Dransfield was invited to join, and after some conference it was agreed that a certain number of shares should be allotted to him in the new company, but that he should be credited with money stated to be due to him in the old company. Dransfield attended the meeting at which the deed of settlement was discussed, and upon the first call being made he was credited with a sum of money on account of that held by him as stated. He afterwards called at the office of the legal manager to correct a slight error in the account.

The following evidence was taken:—Thomas B. Kelly, examined by Mr. S. C. Brown: I know Mr. Dransfield; I purchased an interest in the first Star of the West Gold Mining Company from him, two shares originally representing £50 each; I paid him a deposit; that (produced) is his receipt; I afterwards paid him two calls of £5 each in respect of the two shares; afterwards I attended a meeting of the other shareholders; three shareholders were appointed as a committee to investigate the affairs of the company; afterwards another meeting was held to form a new limited company; these (produced) are the original minutes signed by me as chairman; the letter (produced) is signed by Mr. Dransfield, dated 23rd August, 1872, and written to Mr. Davis who had been appointed legal manager; I was one of the directors of the limited company; the minute book (produced) contains a resolution agreeing to Mr. Dransfield's proposition as to terms of his taking shares in the company; a letter (produced) was written to him on August 27th; his reply (produced) is dated September 3rd; I look at the minutes of a Board meeting on 1st October at which I was present; Mr. Dransfield attended that meeting; a memorandum was that day signed by the directors; that (produced) is the same; it was delivered to Mr. Dransfield; afterwards his claim was transferred to the new trustees; I attended a general meeting of the shareholders held on October 5th; Mr. Dransfield was present; a draft deed of settlement (produced) was read over; I mean to say that the marginal notes or headings were read and the substance in fact discussed; Mr. Dransfield took part in the discussion and I recollect he objected to one clause having reference to forfeited shares; the deed then produced and discussed was adopted as amended by the meeting, and afterwards engrossed and signed by several of the shareholders; the capital was made £6000 in 6000 shares of £1 each, as it was considered that £1 shares were more easily transferred and converted than £50 shares as they were in the previous company; this was mooted at the meeting when Mr. Dransfield was present; this (produced) is his scrip-book for the old company; ten contributing shares of £50 each were taken out by him on the 1st October the day on which we signed the memorandum before referred to; the receipt (produced) is for £40 which was credited to Mr. Dransfield for the first call in the company on December 7.

Cross-examined by Mr. Shepherd: I don't know how Mr. Dransfield got that receipt whether by post or otherwise; I don't recollect his objecting to the deed; I don't remember his leaving the meeting; he didn't attend any subsequent meeting; after the company was formed on October 1st he made some objection as to the registration; that took place on March 5th, 1873; he didn't object to the company being formed but to the registration under the particular circumstances; his objections are stated in a letter dated February 14th; he did not take any scrip in the new company; it was ruled that every person was to bring the old scrip and sign the deed of settlement before he got the new scrip and Mr. Dransfield never did sign the deed; the directors were elected before the draft deed was read over; I only recollect one objection by Mr. Dransfield at the meeting, and I believe his views were acquiesced in and the amendment made; the original allottees were all carried into the new company; they in some cases transferred to other persons; all the subscribing capital was not taken up.

Re-examined by Mr. Brown: The letter (produced) contains Mr. Dransfield's protest before referred to.

Henry Genders, examined by Mr. Brown: I was a clerk in the office of Mr. Davis, who was legal manager of the company; I was present at the meeting when the draft deed of settlement was discussed and adopted; Mr. Dransfield was there: the receipt (produced) and letter of December 7, 1872, are in my handwriting; I sent them to Mr. Dransfield; a day or two afterwards he called at Mr. Davis's office; he had both documents with him, and pointed out to Mr. Davis an error of amount in my letter which was corrected, that the balance due by him to the company on the second call was £22 instead of £24; that was his only objection; he didn't repudiate the call or offer to return the receipt; the share register (produced) is that of this company; Mr. Dransfield's name is entered therein; he is credited with £48 in full on the first call and £28 2s. 11d. on the second call; as a matter of fact, there was scrip for 300 shares made out for Mr. Dransfield of the numbers stated in the share-register; it is not customary to hand over scrip until the deed of settlement is signed.

Cross-examined by Mr. Shepherd: The share-register was commenced on August 7; I believe Mr. Dransfield has seen the entries; he saw the scrip, but never took it up; I cannot say whether he interfered with the company in any way, or attended any meetings; he never paid any calls except those previously mentioned; the 300 shares reserved have not been taken up.

This, with the documentary evidence, closed Mr. Brown's case.

Richard Dransfield was then called and examined by Mr. Shepherd: I took part in forming the first Star of the West Gold Mining Company; I did not consent to the formation of the present company; I did attend a meeting called for the formation of the company, and at which the draft deed was produced; I made a number of objections. I objected to having anything to do with the company unless there was a proper deed of which I could approve; I never agreed to the deed; I never accepted any scrip or took part in any proceedings of the company; I never contributed anything towards it except as by the accounts put in signed on the 1st October; I saw Mr. Davis several times; I told him I didn't consider myself a member of the company and what had been done had been without my sanction; I have the scrip in the old company; I never parted with it; Mr. Davis never tendered me any scrip; I never saw any scrip made out; he did say that as soon as I signed the deed he would give me the scrip and there's no mistake about it.

Mr. Shepherd addressed the Court in support of his client's objection.

His Honor said that, upon the documentary evidence, he had not the slightest doubt that there was a full binding contract between the parties; and no sufficient cause had been shown why the name of Richard Dransfield should be erased from the list of shareholders as a contributory in respect of 800 shares.

MINING BOARD.

YESTERDAY the Board met at their room, Colonial Secretary's Offices. Present:—Mr. Thompson (in the chair), Messrs. Baker (secretary), Sweeney, Mongan, Copeland, and Griffin.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The Board then resolved itself into committee to further consider the opinions of Mr. Owen on the regulations passed by them on the 23rd of May.

Regulations 151 to 157 were reconsidered by the Committee. In framing these, the opinion of Mr. Owen was that the Board had gone beyond its powers. The Committee thought this was too sweeping a statement, and after some conversation they determined to recommend to the Board that the heading of the clauses be changed from "Duties of Mining Registrar," to "Mode of Registration." With regard to clause 151, relating to office and office hours of the mining registrar, the Committee resolved to omit it, with the recommendation that the department should adopt it as one of their regulations.

Clauses 152 ("Survey and Registration, how applied for"), 153 ("Registration"), 154 ("Tenement, Lien, and Share Register"), 155 ("If division be doubtful"), and 156 ("Records may be inspected"), were considered to be parts of the mode of registration, and it was decided that they should be retained.

It was resolved to omit to clause 157 ("Returns to be sent"), and recommend that it be adopted, or the principle it contained, as a departmental arrangement.

The Board adjourned until Wednesday morning, at half-past 10 o'clock.

INTERCOLONIAL MATCH AND SMALL-BORE RIFLE CLUB.

THE scores made at the tenth selection practice with match small-bores for the intercolonial contest, the quarterly money prize meeting of the Small-bore Rifle Club, and for the Dangar-Cooper trophies are given below.

This is the first public competition in which the new Rigby rifles, imported within the last three weeks, were used. Judging from the extremely good scores made, the Messrs. Rigby have constructed the rifles faithfully. All the workmanship is of the best possible description. The rifles are especially adapted for the back position. The back sights supplied can be used for the back, and when reversed, for the forward position also. The arrangement of spirit levels and foresights is excellent, and evidently an improvement on anything of the kind previously in use here.

Since about 1865 the small-bore riflemen of this colony have competed with comparatively obsolete rifles, purchased entirely with their private funds (and successfully until last year) against the Victorian riflemen armed with rifles of the most approved pattern, purchased, as required, by the Victorian Government. This year the majority of our representatives will shoot with the match Rigby rifles imported by our Government, and but for the fact of the short time for practice with the new rifles will compete on equal terms with the Victorians.

Some months back the New South Wales Rifle Association submitted a proposal to the Rifle Association of Victoria to alter the distances for the small-bore contest from 800, 900, and 1000 yards, to 800, 900, and 1000 yards—the distances of the annual international match at Wimbledon; after several reminders of their neglect to reply, an adverse answer was at last received within the past three weeks; the 10 selection practices have all been fired, probably not one of our riflemen has practised with a match small-bore rifle at 600 yards within the past nine months.

Captains Strong and Compton, Lieutenant Cooper, Messrs J. R. Linsley, Gee, and Slade used the Rigby rifles imported by the Government; Mr. Bushelle used his own Rigby, Mr. Lynch also used a Rigby; Mr. Maddocks used a Metford, Surgeon Bedford and Mr. Shaw used Whitworth rifles.

The Small-bore Rifle Club money prizes were won by the following gentlemen, in order:—First competition, 800 and 900 yards, five shots at each, highest possible score, 40: Messrs. Bushelle, Linsley, and Gee, each 37 points, prize winners; Mr. Lynch also made 37. Second competition, 10 shots at 1000 yards, highest possible score 40, Captain Compton 37, Mr. Slade 36, Mr. Lynch 35, prize winners. Mr. Bushelle made 37, Messrs. Linsley and Gee 31 each, but they were handicapped as prize winners in the first competition; Lieutenant Cooper also made 31. Mr. Bushelle won the first aggregate with 74 out of 80, highest possible; Messrs. Linsley and Gee are equal for the second prize with 73 points.

The shooting at the 800 and 900 yards formed the final competition for the Dangar-Cooper trophies.

The wind was from the north-east (the left), force moderate. The bullseyes and centres were the same as Wimbledon as in 1873, but the target was two feet narrower.

EAST SYDNEY V. CIVIL SERVICE.—The opening match between the East Sydney and Civil Service Clubs took place on the Alliance Ground on Saturday last, and the former having won the toss went to the wickets, where they remained until time was called, 8 wickets having fallen for 218 runs. D. Gregory played a fine innings of 52 runs, and J. Toober obtained 31 by good all-round batting; R. Gregory put 21 to his credit, and Dummett 15. The match will be resumed next Saturday, when C. Gregory (22), and Oatley (16) will again take their places at the wickets. The bowling of the Civil Service was bad. The following is the score:—

UNIVERSITY V. GARRISON.—A one day's match between the above clubs took place on Saturday at the University Oval, and although the result (as is usually the case in such contests) was a "draw," the game appears to have been an exciting one. The following is the score:—

The highest scores for the winning side were—J. Aitken 22, and W. H. Hoskins 12, which were obtained by very careful play.

The annual meeting of the Town Hall C. C. Club was held on the 15th instant, at Mr. Bayliss's [illegible], when the following gentlemen were elected office-bearers:—President, the Mayor of Sydney; Vice-presidents—Messrs. C. H. Woolcott, E. Lord, T. H. Bradridge; Committee—Messrs. Gardner, Payten, Harding, Beveridge, Bayliss; hon. treasurer—William Bayliss; hon. secretary—J. M. Small. Arrangements were made for practice and forthcoming matches.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

LEVUKA, OCTOBER 3, 1874.

EVERYTHING remains perfectly quiet in Levuka, and indeed in the whole group, so far as is at present known. After the deed of cession had been signed by the King and the chiefs then in Levuka on Wednesday last, the 3oth ultimo, H.M. ships Pearl and Dido sailed in the afternoon for Loma Loma, Taviuni, and some other of the windward islands, for the purpose of visiting the chiefs of those provinces, and obtaining their signatures to the all-important document. His Excellency Sir Hercules Robinson and suite were on board the Pearl; the King and some of the chiefs, amongst whom were Ratu Savanatha and Ratu Timothy, the King's brother and son, with several others, went in the Dido. On the signing of the deed of cession no demonstration whatever was made, everything was done in the quietest manner possible, and very few persons, except the principal officials and the representatives of the Sydney and Melbourne Press, were present on the occasion.

It is expected that his Excellency and suite will not return to Levuka before Thursday next, the 8th instant, when the cession of Fiji to the British Crown is to be made public, the country to be formally taken possession of in the name of her Majesty, the "meteor flag" to be hoisted, and a Royal salute to be fired.

There is great talk of grand doings to take place thereafter—balls, plays, dinners, and other entertainments, but whether such things will come to pass it is not easy to say; at all events "the desired of the heart" of a large portion of the white residents has so far been fulfilled, and it is to be hoped it will prove, as Sir Hercules himself well observed in his reply to the address from the Corporation of Levuka, "advantageous alike to the large native population, as well as to the white settlers."

Business appears to be rather brisker than for some time past, and active preparations are making in various parts of the archipelago for the manufacture of sugar. A large quantity of cane, said to be of first-rate quality, will be ready for the mills as soon as the mills are ready for it.

No particulars as to the proceedings of his Excellency the Governor of New South Wales have as yet been received in Levuka, but as your special reporter has accompanied the expedition in the Dido, you will have the whole in due course. It is said that his Excellency has expressed his intention of forming a pro tem. Government for the administration of affairs, until advices can be received from England, out of the materials to be found here. Mr. Consul Layard will be Governor, but who are to fill the other high offices of State has not yet transpired, though guesses on the subject are rife—many of them, no doubt, wide of the mark.

October 5.

At daylight this morning, the Cyphrenes mail-steamboat, from Sydney, was seen in the offing waiting for the pilot, who shortly afterwards was seen proceeding towards her. She was boarded by him soon after 5 o'clock, and about half an hour afterwards was safely anchored in Levuka harbour, to the great delight of the residents here. She is a fine large vessel and appears to have a large number of passengers on board. At about 9 o'clock some of them came on shore; but, unfortunately, the day was so rainy that they had small chance of walking about to view the beauties and wonders of Levuka. She is to leave here at 3 o'clock to-day.

We take the following extracts from the Fiji Times to October 3:—

It is our sorrowful duty to record the sudden death of Captain Bateman, at his plantation, on the island of Ovalau. The deceased gentleman expired on Monday last, after long suffering from rheumatic gout. He was about seventy years of age, and was one of the early settlers in New Zealand, where he landed in the year 1843 and became an active member of the Gibbon Wakefield Administration in the early days of the colony. He subsequently held the responsible office of Commissioner of Customs, and was a territorial magistrate; he rendered valuable assistance to the pioneer settlers, and took an active part in the public and political affairs of New Zealand, where the name of Bateman is respected as that of a worthy citizen, who honourably devoted his energy, talent, and ability, during the prime of life, to the promotion of the social and well-being of his fellow-colonists. He made his first voyage to sea in the year 1817 and successfully persevered in the profession. His brother, Dr. Bateman, is a medical man of considerable eminence in England, and another brother, Colonel Bateman, has followed the profession of arms in her Majesty's service, with honourable distinction, and on a recent occasion had the honour of a presentation to their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The Attorney-General of New South Wales, Mr. Innes, has accepted an invitation from the members of the Bar to a complimentary dinner on the return of H.B.M.S. Pearl from the Windward Islands.

We imagine that, for some six or eight months at least, matters will be but little altered. The flag will, of course, be hoisted, and an acting governor appointed; some departmental alterations may take place, but beyond that we anticipate but slight change. So far as the courts are concerned, we are so much guided by English laws and practice that very little alteration may be anticipated in that branch of the service, although some change will, no doubt, be made in the personnel of some of its functionaries. And it is here that our difficulties will commence. It is quite true that Great Britain has accepted the unconditional cession of the islands; but there are certain matters implied, if not expressed, which our honour, now become hers, demands shall be fairly and liberally dealt with. It is not because Fiji is now in a political position different to that which she has hitherto occupied that obligations can be cast aside and forgotten—even if these be of a tacit and not a positive nature. It were unreasonable to expect, it were dishonourable to affect that gentlemen who have given up good positions—positions assuming competence if not wealth, to cast their lot amongst us in a guaranteed relation, who have striven to help the community in its infant struggles and to raise it to the dignity of a nation, shall be allowed to suffer by our improved condition and prospects. If the radical change which has taken place shall necessitate their ceasing to hold office they should be dealt with generously and as befits that which we affect and claim to be—no unworthy representatives of Britain's honour or her generosity.

ST. PETER'S PICNIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—The report in this day's Herald of St. Peter's picnic is likely to convey an impression that my little friend, Rhoda Pettit, was very seriously injured by a blow from a quoit. Such, I am thankful to say, is not the case. When her mother was in the act of preparing to leave the ground to return home by the first boat, the child ran too near where some men were playing at quoits, and the accident took place. But it is not of a nature to cause any alarm. Indeed, a few days will suffice for her restoration.

If I had seen anyone playing at quoits I should have felt it a duty to ask them to leave off playing at a game of so dangerous a nature in the presence of hundreds of people of all ages.

SUNDAY DESECRATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—I was pleased to see by a recent issue of your valuable journal, that a Catholic Association against Sunday desecration had been formed. I presume in Rome, and that a deputation from this society waited recently upon his Holiness the Pope, and were not only favourably received, but also, as may be supposed, were encouraged in their work.

I write you this in order to moot the subject of the formation of a similar association in Sydney, where, like in any other great city, there is plenty of work for willing hands to do.

I am sure that both the clergy and the laity do not require any arguments of mine to convince them of the great need there is for earnest and combined action against the crying evil in our midst, but will only be too eager to extend their efforts for good. If no more is attempted by such an association than the closing of public-houses on the Lord's Day, a great evil which now exists would be removed, and many respectable publicans would rejoice to have one day to themselves to spend privately with their families, and let us hope that a portion of the time would be devoted to higher duties.

But I would like to bring another crying evil under notice, and that is the number of petty shops which are kept open for the sake of paltry gains by members of both Protestant and Catholic bodies in every street in Sydney, drawing children into the vortex, and giving an opportunity for parents, wanting in every moral principle, to allow their children to go early to destruction. I speak strongly on the point, because these shops are mostly supported by the children's pence. I hope those in authority in the Church will make their voices heard in this respect, and by their great influence to help speed this good object of anti-Sunday desecration in this beautiful country.

THE TRUE CHARACTER AND VALUE OF OUR DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

[illegible] has been said and written of late upon the subject [illegible] our Denominational schools, and they have been condemned in no measured terms by those who are anxious to [illegible] the present system of public education by one that [illegible] be purely secular, and at the same time compulsory [illegible].

It has [illegible] often struck me, however, in reading the discussions and writings of this party that much ignorance prevails upon the subject, and that the true merits of the case yet require to be studied with more enlarged views and a calmer judgment. What has been said and written has too often been from a theoretical point of view, and mingled with an amount of prejudice which springs, almost of necessity, from erroneous and narrow ideas, or which may from other causes have originally existed in the mind.

This is especially the case with regard to those schools which are characterised as Denominational. They are, I am convinced, the subject of much misconception and consequent prejudice. The object of this letter is, as I hope the effect of it will be, should you allow it a place in your columns, to remove that misconception, and place them in a truer light.

In the first place it is assumed by many that they are of an inferior quality, as regards both the instruction imparted in them, and the teachers by whom that instruction is given. But what are the facts of the case? That the course of secular instruction is the same in all the schools (Public and Denominational) under the Council of Education; and that the teachers who are employed in those schools are all alike appointed by the Council—who must first be satisfied that they are duly qualified, and, generally speaking, they have all been subjected to the same training in the Fort-street training school.

It is assumed again that the promoters and upholders of these schools are chiefly anxious to maintain them with a view to uphold their peculiar Church system and influence, and that, were it not for this, they would be regardless of their existence. I am confident that, so far as the Church of England is concerned, this is a mistake. We are actuated by higher motives than these. We yield to none in our desire to advance the highest interests of the people at large, and to impart to the community of which we are an integral portion a character for intelligence and virtue which shall render it worthy of being respected and honoured among the communities around. We are anxious to see the people of New South Wales distinguished by all that is great and honourable; enterprising, energetic, and industrious, prompt and decided in action, but at the same time just and true, and religious—mindful of their duty to God and one another, and scorning to take any mean advantage of their neighbours. And it is unfair, ungenerous, and unchristian, to say that the clergy only care for these schools for the purposes of maintaining their own influence, or that of their Church. It is not the clergy alone who are anxious for these schools, but the laity as well. The laity in large numbers plainly prefer them for their children, as is evident from the large numbers who are sent to our schools, even when Public schools of high repute are at hand. And the reason is because of the superior religious advantages which are to be found therein. Take St. Philip's with its 700 scholars, [illegible] with its 300, and St. James's with nearly 300; take, at the other end of the city, Christ Church school with more than 400, St. Barnabas's with nearly 500, and St. Paul's with about 400. At Balmain and Pyrmont I find that enlargements of the school buildings have become necessary, because of the increasing numbers of scholars in them. These are facts which speak for themselves; they prove that these schools have the confidence of those who thus avail themselves of them, and that they desire no change. The truth is that the system found therein commends itself to the judgment of thousands who know by experience what its value is.

And now, let me endeavour to point out as briefly as I can, the special advantages which characterise our Church of England schools, by stating their peculiar features.

The first is that religious principles and duties are inculcated in them in a practical manner every day, as a part of the daily routine, and moral conduct is based upon the Gospel.

The work of each day is not begun until prayer has been offered by the teacher (or the clergyman if he be present), and the blessing of Almighty God sought upon the scholars and those who teach them. With this is joined cheerful praise in an appropriate hymn. This is done throughout the school. And there is thus a practical recognition by the whole school of dependence upon God, of the efficacy of prayer, and of the great duty of honouring Him as our Creator and Redeemer in the common duties of life. The day is closed in the same manner, i.e., with prayer and praise. And I would especially call attention to the fact that this does not depend upon the presence of the clergyman, or specially appointed religious teacher. The master of the school, or the mistress, is responsible for this duty.

Secondly: An hour being allowed by the Public Schools Act and the Regulations of the Council for religious instruction, the remainder of the hour is occupied in giving Bible teaching, either orally or from a Bible itself, if the scholars are old enough to use it, to the whole school—those children, however, being exempted whose parents so wish it, on account of their religious tenets. There is no attempt to make proselytes or to influence the faith of those of other denominations.

The lessons given are prepared by the teachers [illegible]

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1874.

We remarked, the other day, that the introduction of the Endowed Schools Bill in the House of Commons had done more than anything else to weaken the position of Mr. Disraeli's Ministry. That it has had, or should have such an effect, is due not only to the intrinsic importance of the measure, but to its significance as indicating the desires or the tendencies of the Government. The bill has been accepted as evidence of what the Government would do if the power were in its own hands, and for that reason it has set men thinking how far it is safe to place power in the hands of such a Government. The Gladstone Ministry had been turned out of office because, upon Mr. Disraeli's own theory, its action had disturbed all interests, harassed every class, and shaken the confidence of all who had anything to uphold or defend. The nation wanted cessation from exciting change, and rest. Acquiring power under such circumstances as these, what has been the policy of the new Ministry? So far as this Endowed Schools Bill can be said to indicate it, the action of the new Ministry is likely to involve the country in excitement and conflict. Mr. Gladstone was accused of passing revolutionary measures. The policy openly avowed by Lord Sandon in introducing the Endowed Schools Bill, and by Mr. Gathorne Hardy, in supporting it, was, as the Spectator has aptly termed it, a policy of counter-revolution. Cautious and timid men throughout the country had thought it time that Mr. Gladstone and his party should be told to retire because they were moving too fast, and no one could foresee where they would stop. But, with a strong Ministry entering openly upon the work of a counter-revolution,—upon the reversal of their predecessors' policy in a matter clearly in accord with the general tendency of the times, who could tell where this process would terminate? Reform after reform, the results of many a hard fought contest, might be attacked in succession. No man enjoying and prizing the privileges conferred by liberal legislation of recent date, could feel sure how long under such a Government, he might count upon their possession. To take the first step in a policy of reaction, gave warning of an indefinite number that might follow—a warning that touched the interests and the feelings of classes as numerous and now as influential as those who were alarmed by the boldness and the breadth of Mr. Gladstone's legislation. If on the one side it was the cautious and the timid who were made doubtful as to the safety of possessions long held, it is on the other the resolute and self-assertive holders of newly acquired privileges, long and unjustly withheld from them, who are bestirring themselves when they see indications that those privileges are in danger.

The reactionary character of the Endowed Schools Bill has already been explained at some length. Notwithstanding Mr. Disraeli's endeavour to pass the matter off lightly, and his affected inability to understand some of its provisions, their true meaning was immediately seized upon and exposed by leading members of the Liberal party and by the Liberal Press. Its spirit was indeed avowed, as we have said, by Lord Sandon and Mr. Gathorne Hardy. As a reactionary measure, bad in itself, and still worse because it broke through the traditions and rules by which even party action in England is regulated, it was met with a resistance so determined that the Ministry, strong as its support in the House has been, felt compelled to retire from the contest. The obnoxious provisions were abandoned under cover of a professed intention to re-introduce them in another form at some future day—a veil that disguised defeat, but could not conceal it. This resistance and its success throw some light upon the nature and extent of that "Conservative reaction" in England, about which we have been hearing so much amidst the general progress of change and reform for years past.

We heard of this Conservative reaction long ago. There were whispers that it was setting in when Mr. Coningsby—as a working man—was writing letters to the Times to show how indifferent men of his class were to such questions as the extension of the franchise. Mr. Disraeli appealed to it, though in vain, in the first stages of the agitation about the Irish Church Bill. The whisperings became louder when in the Irish Land Bill, Mr. Gladstone laid his hand upon some of the cherished privileges of the landowners, and, if anything, louder still when the abolition of purchase in the army was effected by an exercise of the Prerogative. But the talk about Conservative reaction became loudest and strongest when the Gladstone Ministry, appealing to the country, with a heavy balance of revenue in hand and large promises of remitted taxation, were hopelessly defeated on all sides, and, for the first time in a long series of years, a Conservative Ministry met a new House of Commons, backed by a large and compact majority, and faced by a disorganised and powerless Opposition. The Conservative reaction was then, as everybody said, an obvious fact. What are we to think of it now, when we see the first really reactionary measure introduced by the new Ministry virtually defeated?

Broadly speaking, there is no such thing as reaction in English policy. The nation is committed to a forward course, and impelled along it by forces that are uncontrollable in the ordinary progress of events. In the view of some, that course is ever upwards; in the view of others, it is simply a progress of descent. The one class would hasten the rate of movement; the other would retard it or arrest it altogether for a while; but by the agreement of both parties, movement, when it takes place at all, is always in the same direction. Whether upwards or downwards, it is onwards in any case; and from the point once reached there is no retrogression. As a writer in the Economist has well put it, true Conservatism "consists not in going back, nor even in standing still, but in doing gradually and quietly all that the country has quite made up its mind to do." Reactionary Conservatism is a contradiction of terms. And those who have so interpreted the signs of the times as to imagine that the nation was preparing to retrace its steps and to go back upon the tracks of recent reform have had as little insight into the true character of the so-called Conservative reaction as understanding of the true functions of Conservative statesmanship. The Gladstone Ministry fell through the operation of a variety of influences. One amongst them was that to which the term Conservative reaction has been vaguely applied. But that influence, instead of pointing to a reversal of the general drift and course of public policy, such as a reaction properly so called would imply, sought a change only in the men by whom the progress of legislation and the administration of affairs were to be regulated and controlled.

This, we believe, was the true meaning of the "Conservative reaction," if we use the term for the purpose of describing that current of feeling throughout the country which unseated the Liberals, and placed a Conservative Ministry in power. So we understood it at the time, and so it now appears in the light of the defeat of the Endowed Schools Bill. So, however, it was not understood by all,—by some even of the Cabinet Ministers. The Government has within it reactionary Tory elements,—men who doubtless would, if they could, reverse the policy of the nation, and who were prepared to make this attempt even at the risk of damaging the newly acquired strength of the Conservative party. These men, for reasons best known to himself, were allowed by Mr. Disraeli to have their day. They have tested the temper of the House and of the country by an exposure of their own inability to understand it, and nothing less than the most adroit strategy on the part of the Premier will succeed—even if that should succeed—in making the country believe that the action taken in this matter was neither the deliberate action of the whole Ministry, nor a true index to the intentions of the Government, but a rash attempt made by a few of its self-willed members who could not be persuaded that hot water would scald until they were suffered to thrust their hands into it. The experiment, however, was a hazardous one. Mr. Disraeli may have succeeded to a certain extent in educating his reactionary colleagues; but he has at the same time given a lesson to the nation. And already we see as results a revival of confidence in the Liberal party, a consolidation and reorganisation of its forces, and symptoms of returning allegiance on the part of the Nonconformists, whose defection contributed greatly to the late Liberal defeat, but who have since found that they were fighting against their own cause in promoting, directly or indirectly, the cause of the Conservatives.

It is a common practice to refer to the United States of America for illustrations of the most extreme liberalism; but in regard to the rights which we concede to conditional purchasers of Crown lands we have far out-liberalled the great Republic which is overshadowed by "the bird of freedom." The Government of the United States of America does not part with its authority over public land until the price demanded for it has been paid. It has set its face against the system of deferred payments with all its evils, present and prospective. It has also refused to accept the responsibility of prescribing conditions the fulfillment of which it would be difficult, if not impossible, for a Government to impartially enforce. Waste land may be taken up and cultivated by backwoodsmen, and its fruits may be enjoyed prior to purchase, but the settler acquires no title, Parliamentary or otherwise. All he gains is a pre-emptive right. But in this colony it has been set forth in recent judgments that a man or a child who selects land conditionally, and pays five shillings per acre, acquires a Parliamentary title to the land. In the case of Mate v. Nugent, it was laid down that every conditional purchaser, on payment of his first deposit, "acquires a perfect Parliamentary title to the fee simple in possession of the portion of the Crown lands selected by him, subject only to the conditions imposed by the Act," and further, "that his Parliamentary title could not be revoked even by a Crown grant to another party under the great seal of the colony, and although issued by the advice of the Ministry of the day." The selector can, in fact, be ousted only upon proof in a Court of Justice that he has failed to fulfil the statutory conditions. One of our Judges has gone so far as to affirm that a selection upon a reserve even could be held by the selector as against the Crown, and that the Crown, having taken the selector's money for such land, "should be estopped both in law and in equity from setting up a title to it and treating the selector as a trespasser." How the Government of the United States has avoided complications and public inconveniences of this kind will be seen from the following precis of a judgment delivered in the Supreme Court of California in December term, 1872, in the case "J. M. Hutchings plaintiff in error v. F. F. Low and others, Commissioners." In this case land had been taken up in the Yosemite Valley, and in the Mariposa Big Tree Grove, which had at the time been set apart as public reserves. The law is thus stated:—

"1. A party, by settlement upon lands of the United States with a declared intention to obtain a title to the same under the pre-emption laws, does not thereby acquire such a vested interest in the premises as to deprive Congress of the power to divest it, by a grant, to another party.

"2. The power of regulation and disposition over the lands of the United States, conferred upon Congress by the Constitution, only ceases, under the pre-emption laws, when all the preliminary acts prescribed by these laws for the acquisition of the title, including the payment of the price of the land, have been performed by the settler. When these pre-requisites have been complied with, the settler, for the first time, acquires a vested interest in the premises occupied by him, of which he cannot be subsequently deprived. He then is entitled to a certificate of entry from the local land officers, and ultimately to a patent for the land from the United States. Until such payment and entry, the pre-emption laws give to the settler only a privilege of pre-emption in case the lands are offered for sale in the usual manner; that is the privilege to purchase them in that event, in preference to others.

"3. That the United States, by the pre-emption laws, do not enter into any contract with the settler, or incur any obligations, that the land occupied by him shall ever be put up for sale.

"They simply declare by those laws, that in case any of their lands are thrown open for sale, the privilege to purchase them in limited quantities, at fixed prices, shall be first given to parties who have settled upon and improved them. The legislation thus adopted for the benefit of settlers was not intended to deprive Congress of the power to make any other disposition of the lands before they are offered for sale, or to appropriate them to any public uses."

How different is the case in this colony! Immediately a man takes up land and pays his deposit of five shillings per acre he acquires a vested interest in the premises. The Crown parts with its authority over the land so long as the conditions are fulfilled, or so long as the Crown remains ignorant that they are not fulfilled, and it can never demand payment of the balance, after the conditions of residence and improvement have been satisfied, so long as the holder pays the low rate of interest fixed by the Act. And instead of the conditional purchaser having cast upon him the risk of forfeiture by selecting on a reserve—a judicial opinion has been expressed by one Judge to the effect that the responsibility is cast upon the Government of not receiving a deposit upon land any portion of which may be on a reserve; and two Judges are of opinion that although that portion of a selection which may be on a reserve may be cancelled, the conditional purchaser cannot be ousted by that fact from the balance of his selection which may be on unreserved Crown lands. This was laid down in the case ex parte Nisbett, heard in our Supreme Court on the 1st July last.

In this case, Nisbett had selected 320 acres of land in the district of Deniliquin. A portion of the land selected by him was on a water reserve; and on this account the Minister for Lands sought to cancel the whole of his selection. The case was taken before the local magistrates who adjudicated against Nisbett, and directed a warrant to issue to the Crown Lands bailiff to dispossess him of the land, of which he was in occupation by virtue of his conditional purchase. The defendant appealed to the Supreme Court for a rule to set aside this order of the magistrates, and the rule was made absolute. The Chief Justice held that the magistrates might have been justified in putting Nisbett out of the reserve. He said:—"The order might have been upheld had not the justices not only ejected the defendant from the reserve, but also from that part of his selection which was outside of it." Mr. Justice Faucett said:—"If the information had been confined to the land on the reserve, the justices would have had jurisdiction, but he held that the Ministers had no power to interfere with the main body of the selection." As we have already pointed out, the judgment of Mr. Justice Hargrave was to the effect that the selector, although a portion of his land was on a reserve, had been allowed to acquire a good title to the whole of it as against everybody.

Taking the law as declared by a majority of the Court, it is easy to see that cases may arise in which one of the most important clauses of the Crown Lands Alienation Act may be defeated by the Supreme Court. For instance, a selector may take up forty acres, one half of which may be on a reserve, and the land agent through inadvertence or want of accurate information, may receive his deposit. Afterwards twenty acres may be cancelled as being within a reserve; and then, although the Act states that land conditionally purchased shall not be less than forty acres, he will be left in possession of twenty only. Or, on the other hand, if Mr. Justice Hargrave's view of the law should be acquiesced in by a full Court, a little forgetfulness or carelessness on the part of a Government land agent may deprive the colony of the most valuable reserves!

MEMORIAL WINDOWS IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH CARCOAR.—Two beautifully stained glass windows have during the past week been erected in St. Paul's Church, Carcoar. The large east window (says the Chronicle), consisting of three compartments, is to the memory of the late Hon. Thomas Icely, M.L.C., and his deceased daughters; the other—the west window—consisting of two compartments, is the gift of Mrs. Stimpson of this town. In the large east window the subjects pourtrayed are—"The Good Samaritan," "The Sermon on the Mount," and "Mary at the feet of Jesus." In the west window, which is beautiful in symmetrical proportions, the subjects represented are "The Birth and Baptism of Jesus," with lamb, cross, and flag in the quatre-foil, and on entering the church the coup d'œil is very striking indeed. The designs were all prepared by Lyon, Cottier, and Co., of Pitt-street, Sydney.

THE MUTUAL PROVIDENT SOCIETY.—"Aeglos" of the Australasian writes:—"Some people were rather astonished when I pointed out a year or two ago how high a position a purely Australian life assurance society occupied relatively with the greatest and longest-established British companies. They will probably be more surprised to learn that this society—the Australian Mutual Provident—now heads the entire list in one particular. Out of 33 leading companies, but 7 issued over 1000 new policies each in 1873. The Australian Mutual Provident issued 3206, being 647 ahead of the company which heads the list of all British life companies. In the amount assured it stands fourth, and in the corresponding yearly premium it ranks second. Without any brag, this is something of which Australians may justly pride themselves. For it not only reflects credit on this society's management, but shows that in the feverish rush for wealth there is a healthy undercurrent of prudent and kindly forethought for dependent survivors."

HONOURS.—The Emperor of Austria (we learn from the European Mail) has conferred the decoration of Knight of the Order of the Iron Crown, with a patent of hereditary nobility, on Dr. Julius Von Haast, director of the museum of Canterbury, New Zealand, in recognition of his eminent scientific merits and attainments.

THE MURDER OF A BLIND MAN.—The inquest touching the death of Joseph George, at Bathurst, was concluded on Wednesday, at the Hospital in that town. The jury returned a verdict "That the deceased, Joseph George, was wilfully murdered by David Harrison, the prisoner before the Court." The prisoner was then committed to take his trial at the ensuing Circuit Court to be holden in Bathurst on the 26th instant.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO GOVERNOR MUSGRAVE'S DAUGHTER.—A distressing accident occurred at Government House, Adelaide, on Friday evening, 9th instant. Miss Joyce Harriet Musgrave, the only daughter of his Excellency the Governor, was with her nurse, who was preparing a bath for her, when (says the South Australian Register) she accidentally fell into the vessel of hot water. The child, who was a little over three years old, was scalded on the back and arm, but up to Saturday evening was apparently progressing towards recovery, when she was seized with convulsions, which terminated fatally on Sunday morning.

HORSE ACCIDENTS.—The Southern Argus reports that as Mr. John O'Brien, a farmer of Gullen, was riding home on horseback from Goulburn late last Wednesday night, his horse stumbled and fell when near to Mr. M'Aleer's public-house at Mummell, and the rider was thrown heavily to the ground. Assistance soon arrived and he was carried in a prostrate condition to the hotel, where he remained until the following morning, when he was conveyed in a cart with very steady travelling to the surgery of Dr. Hayley, in Goulburn. Upon examination of the unfortunate man's body, it was discovered that several of his ribs had been fractured and that he had sustained some very serious injuries to one of the shoulder joints. On Tuesday night Mr. Joseph Bull, of Goulburn, was riding towards Boro, and when a little beyond Tarago his horse tripped on one of the culverts, both rider and horse coming suddenly to the ground. Mr. Bull suffered severely, receiving large cuts on the face and under the cheek, and his teeth were driven through his tongue, which was split about an inch in length.

COACH ACCIDENT.—On Thursday (the Yass Courier states), just after the Young mail had left the Yass post-office, one of the reins unfortunately broke. The result of this mishap was that the horses, shying at a waggon in the road, took the coach right into the "Government ditch" opposite Messrs. Davis, Alexander, and Co.'s store, Cooma-street. Luckily no one was injured, although there were five passengers in the coach, viz.:—Mr. and Mrs. Cohen, their child, and two servants, all en route for Young. Their escape was next to miraculous.

A FATAL WAGER.—A death under circumstances of a shocking character is reported by the Mortlake Dispatch. A wager had been made between two men as to the quantity of whisky that each could drink. The trial took place some time during Sunday, Mullens, a publican, and one Walsh being the parties to the affair. The former drank off three tumblers of whisky, after which Walsh did the same. The effect of the whisky upon Mullens was such that those witnessing the event thought he went off into sleep—it turned out, however, that he had ceased to live. Walsh, we hear, adopted the precaution of taking a quantity of butter before contesting for such a fatal wager, and the result was that the dangerous effects of the whisky upon him were to some extent nullified. He is, however, reported to be in a very bad state. Mullens has been looked upon as a temperate man, and what could have induced such mad conduct on the part of either it is difficult to tell.

SUICIDE IN HOBSON'S BAY.—The Argus states that when the steamer Express was about half-way between Geelong and Melbourne on her passage down on the evening of Thursday, a steerage passenger was observed to take off his coat and waistcoat and spring clear off the vessel into the bay. The captain was below at the time, but rushed up on the alarm being given. The steamer was stopped, a boat launched, and search made for half an hour, but without success. The moon was shining at the time, but the weather was rather hazy, and the boat could not be seen after it had gone 100 yards. The man had been observed to be melancholy, as if recovering from drink, and it is believed that he was drunk when he jumped overboard. His name is not known. He appeared to be a labourer, about 30 years old, with fair hair, and rather tall.

THE STRIKE OF TANNERS AT CASTLEMAINE.—The tanners of Mr. Cunnack, of Castlemaine, who were sent to gaol for seven days for leaving their work without giving due notice (the Australasian observes), have been made heroes and martyrs. The application to their case of a law which was framed for an entirely different state of society, wears a very hard aspect, and the demand that is to be made for a repeal of the obnoxious statute has a good deal to say for itself. There is much justice in the complaint of the men and their sympathisers that a law which permits one party to a contract to break it—not, as they say, with impunity, but with more liability to civil damages—and makes the breach by the other party a criminal offence, is an unequal, and, in so far, an unjust law. The statute in question, the Master and Servants' Act, is a relic of an early stage in the history of the colony, and such provisions as the clause which makes a master who engages a servant who has been in service before without a certificate from his last place subject to a penalty of £5, shows that it was intended and grew out of a social condition that has long since passed away. There is good reason to believe that power of resorting to a civil proceeding for breach of contract would give the employer every security he can reasonably require, and so far the demand for the repeal of the law in question seems a legitimate one.

COOKBUNDOON SLATE QUARRIES.—The Goulburn Herald of Saturday reports that the Hon. John Sutherland, Minister for Works, and the Mayor and several aldermen of Sydney and one or two other gentlemen, are on a visit to Goulburn, the object being to inspect the recently-opened slate quarries at Cookbundoon, fourteen miles from Goulburn, with the view of forming an opinion as to their adaptability for pavement for the city of Sydney. The party number fifteen, as follows: The Hon. John Sutherland, Minister for Works; the Mayor of Sydney, Mr. S. S. Goold; Aldermen Macintosh, M.P., Oatley, Chapman, Green, Palmer, Kippax, Mann, and Day; Mr. Woolcott, Town Clerk; Mr. Edward Bradridge, City Surveyor; Mr. Bradridge, Building Surveyor; and Messrs. S. James and J. Thomas.

LOSS OF STOCK.—The lambing in the Inverell district is finished (says the Glen Innes Examiner), and shearing has commenced. On the Byron station the percentage of lambs was 68. The spring has been very backward in that locality as well as in this. It is supposed that not more than 50 per cent. will be cut in this neighbourhood. One gentleman, a free selector, we are informed, does not expect more than 5 per cent., owing to the poverty of his ewes. Some heavy losses in this district amongst stock are reported. All stockholders have suffered in a greater or less degree. On one station we hear of no less than five hundred head of cattle having perished; and out of a flock of one thousand four hundred sheep, belonging to a small settler, he has had the misfortune to lose upwards of eight hundred. The oldest inhabitants of the district have never known such a severe season as we have just experienced. It is computed that not less than eighteen thousand sheep have died in the vicinity of Glen Innes.

SHEARING EXTRAORDINARY.—At one of the sheds in the district (says the Dubbo Dispatch) some very tall shearing is reported to have taken place. Two crack shearers, named Sinnett and Jones, were pitted against each other, and the contest lasted for three days. Sinnett shore 199 the first day, 204 the second, and 208 the third—total, 611. Jones shore 203, 207, and 212—total, 622 sheep. This shearing was in the grease, and we think it would be hard to top it anywhere.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—As a general rule, infant prodigies are not entertaining. Whilst affecting to ape the mannerisms of those senior to them, they betray puerilities which are not reconcilable to audiences that have cultivated the peculiar characteristics of each particular age. Yet it must be admitted that Miss Rosa Towers is fairly entitled to encomium in her juvenile impersonations. As Miggs (the waif of the streets, as the playbill has it), she thoroughly enlisted the sympathies of the audience throughout the play of which she sustained the title role. She has a vivacity, a sprightliness, a genuine conception of humanity worthy an actress of much more advanced years and experience.

DISCOVERY OF THE REMAINS OF THE LATE MR. EDWARD CHALKER.—The Cooma Gazette states that on Saturday, 10th instant, as Mr. William Chalker, the eldest brother of the unfortunate young man who was drowned in the Murrumbidgee on the 10th of August last, was, with a companion, exploring on the banks of the river in sanguine hopes that even after so long a period the body of his brother might be found, they discovered it on a tea-tree, about two feet out of the water.

VIOLENT STORM.—The Tumut correspondent of the Gundagai Times reports that, on Tuesday evening last, our town was visited by a most violent hurricane of wind and rain, accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning. However, it only lasted a few moments, but during that brief time it did a great deal of injury. The heavy gusts of wind damaged many houses; a large tree was blown down adjacent to the residence of Mr. T. Robinson, and the inmates had a very narrow escape of meeting with an untimely end. The old brewery, the property of Mr. Williams, of Adelong, was completely levelled to the ground, and other buildings were more or less damaged and destroyed by the rude blast.

AN UNPLEASANT PARTY.—On Tuesday last (says the Yass Courier), before the Young Bench, James Malum, junior, was summoned for trespassing on the enclosed lands of Mr. Edwards. Defendant, who seemed half-witted, pleaded guilty, and said he could not show that he had any right to be on the land. Fined 20s., to be obtained by levy and distress; and, in default of having no property, to be sent to gaol for fourteen days. Mr. Edwards stated that defendant was a terror to the neighbourhood; he was of unsound mind, and unfit to be at large. Some time back he had laid poison about indiscriminately, and caused damage. He had been seen a few days ago sharpening a knife and threatening to inflict injury.

A DANGEROUS LIZARD.—The Inverell Courier states that a rock lizard was brought into town on Monday alive. It was secured in a sealed box, and carried to Mr. Millington's dispensary. The box was carefully opened, and the interesting creature dropped into a bottle of curious liquid, amongst four or five defunct brothers or sisters of its own lovely species. The rock lizard is only slightly "inferior" to the deaf adder. Its sting will kill within a very short period. One of the interesting dead in the bottle to which we have alluded did, we are told, sting a woman a few years since at Bingera. The unfortunate woman died within two hours of her mishap.

THE AMERICAN SCIENTIFIC MISSION.—The Hobart Town Mercury of the 10th instant says:—"The gentlemen connected with the Swatara received instructions to be all on board last night, so as to allow the vessel to take her departure before daylight this morning. The Swatara proceeds to the Bluff Harbour, Southland, New Zealand, and will land the following scientific party:—Chief astronomer, Professor Peters, of Hamilton College, N. Y.; assistant astronomer, Lieutenant E. W. Bass, U. S. Army; chief photographer, C. L. Phillips; assistant photographer, I. Russell; ditto, E. B. Pierson. After remaining at that place for about four or five days, the vessel will shape her course towards the Chatham Islands, and on arrival there will land the following party in Hut Bay:—Chief astronomer, E. Smith, U. S. Coast Survey; assistant astronomer, A. H. Scott; chief photographer, Otto Buchler; assistant photographer, W. H. Rau; and S. Tainter, instrument maker. The Swatara will remain about a week at the Chatham Islands, and will then, probably, return to Hobart Town, in order to have the vessel painted, and effect any repairs that may be necessary. The transit observations completed, she will proceed to gather up the parties, and return home. During their short stay in Hobart Town both the scientists and the officers of the vessel have visited the "lions" of the city and its environs, and they have found so much deemed worthy of remembrance in our beautiful scenery that the photographic establishments were almost cleared out of whatever specimens they had. Geological, mineralogical, conchological, and other native specimens, as well as curiosities belonging to the various groups of the Polynesian Islands, were largely purchased, and one of the gentlemen on board, determined to take away a specimen of our boatbuilding, bought Mr. James Weir's well-known ferry boat Purple Star. Large purchases of seeds of the Eucalyptus globulus, and our native shrubs and flowers were also made; the purchasers being of opinion that they would flourish on the soil of America. Our visitors speak very highly of the hospitality they have received at the hands of our citizens.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

SEPTEMBER 3.

THE Times has an article in yesterday's issue, commenting upon the Australian intelligence of the month. Though it alludes principally to the Melbourne news, it evidently includes New South Wales in the account. "If anybody ever did get what he wanted, and twenty times as much of it as he ever expected, the British people have that in our Australian colonies. It may not be easy to say exactly what is wanted at home, for there is some variety of tastes and aspirations; but if we take the voice that speaks out most confidently, and with the least doubt as to the sacredness of its cause, it is that which declares against all distinctions of rank, all monopoly of land or political power, all ascendency or exclusiveness in matters of faith, all prejudices, narrow-mindedness, and needless adherence to traditional models. It is the voice which pronounces everything wrong, and demands that everything shall be new." Our restless spirits are invited to a study of a country like Victoria where every experiment that can be conceived is now in progress. After some pleasantry about the squabble over the payment of the members of the Victorian Assembly and the taxing of the sheep runs, it continues—"We see in these colonies just that readiness to try and abandon experiments which in this country a man can only write or talk about." All the world, it says, knew that light railways with 50-lb. rails would not answer; but the Victorians were bent on trying them, and now have to take them up. So, too, "the Victorian tariff and harbour duties are an experiment entered into in the same light-hearted fashion. It is quite certain they will not answer, but it is a comfort to know that the community there is not as obstinate as it is occasionally foolish." What is "most attractive in our colonial fellow-subjects is the heartiness, the simplicity, and the confidence in success which evidently animate their proceedings. Why will not a few men whom just now we could easily spare take the hint and betake themselves to a colony where life is still all hope and despair is not yet known?"

Published letters from the Challenger speak of everything having been done at Sydney for the comfort of those on board. In seeking to ascertain the oceanic section between Sydney and New Zealand, the depths were found to increase gradually though greatly to 2600 fathoms, the water shallowing by an easy slope as the New Zealand coast was approached. The bottom for the greater part of the way appeared very favourable for a light cable, being mud and sand; though the rockiness of the extremities suggested the importance of a stronger cable for the shore-ends. Meantime the United States, steamer Tuscarora has been sounding in the Pacific with the object of finding a course for a submarine cable from Japan to the American coast. A depth was reached of over 3600 fathoms; the gradients were found extraordinarily steep, and a Casella thermometer came up a perfect wreck, as well it might, considering that the pressure is about a ton per square inch for every 800 fathoms. After losing nearly all his wire, and finding the direct route impracticable, Commander Belknap is compelled to recommend a more circuitous course. His soundings confirm the existence of a very deep trough under the Japan stream, similar to that cut by the Gulf Stream on the American coast. The Great Eastern, steamship, is busy laying the 5th Anglo-American cable, having begun this time at the Newfoundland end, instead of with Ireland as heretofore.

Messrs. Charles Balme and Co.'s wool report of yesterday says that "a certain amount of necessitous buying on the part of consumers needing stock to cover immediate requirements, has, in particular instances, driven quotations to an extreme point; but on the average, prices as regards Australian and New Zealand descriptions may be quoted (with the exception of fleece-washed wools, which show little or no change in value,) at the following advance:—

Scoured wools of the better kind	1d. per lb.
Low scoured, and pieces and locks of all kinds	1½d. to 2d.
Washed half-breds	1d. to 1½d.
Greasy ditto	½d. to 1d.
Ditto merino	½d.

The course of the market during the next few days is expected to determine substantially the rates for the entire series. Even where the smallest advance has been made, prices are "by no means at an unreasonable level." The circular gives the

The "Gentleman Emigrant," by W. Stamer, 2 vols., Tinsley, is well reviewed. The "chapters on Australia are full of sound information and good advice, and we do not" says the Times "know that we have ever seen bush life better sketched." The lot of the "poor gentleman emigrant" who is to be found on almost every outward-bound vessel is described with great power. Your readers have probably been introduced to the new edition of Trollope's book, each colony being treated in a three-shilling sectional volume.

Gentlemen emigrants of a different kind crossed the Channel on Monday for Pontegny, in France. The pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Edmund of Canterbury—a saint about whom the world is not superfluously well-informed—has been undertaken by Archbishop Manning and 400 Catholics. Seeing that this number includes priests and many mere boys, and that it has been gathered from all parts of the country, it does not appear to be an expedition likely to strike terror into the heart of Prince Bismarck, as showing that whatever Germany or Italy may presumptuously do, England is fast reverting to the ancient faith. The faithful had a stormy passage from Newhaven to Dieppe. Let us hope they were spared the visits of a class of persons that has taken to a great love of sea-air and exercise on board the channel boats. They are people who, never sea-sick themselves, move cheerfully about among the prostrate forms of passengers who could not rise to salute the Queen and, with many a gentle ministration of love, abstract purses and handbags, watches and shawls. To rob the dead is bad; but to prey upon the sea-sick is in some respects even meaner; and now detectives are employed on all the boats to put a stop to the nefarious trade.

Marshal MacMahon has been making a holiday trip through the north of France. One correspondent recalls the remarks of the German humourist who said, "The more I am acquainted with men the more I like dogs," and suggests that the President will, after his present excursion, say in like manner, "The more I am acquainted with the French the more I like their country." An affecting incident is reported from Calais. M. Durnof, the aeronaut, who was the first to escape from Paris during the siege by balloon, was advertised to ascend on Monday. The wind, however, was from the south-west, and he was urged to give up the attempt, as certain not to be able to cross the Channel in accordance with his purpose. Stung, however, at the table d'hote by taunts of cowardice he rose from the table, said to his wife "we will show them we are not afraid to die," and hurriedly ascended with her amid the protestations of the crowd. They were seen, as evening closed in driving to the north, over the open sea; they had no provisions on board, only a few sacks of ballast, and it is feared they cannot have reached any Scotch or Norwegian port.

The Ashantees of Europe, as the Carlists are coming to be called, are vindicating their right to the name by the most hideous atrocities. At Valfonga the captive carbineers were massacred to the number of 84. Driven to Slayers, they were shut up in the parish church. Bru, the Carlist chief, bade them prepare for execution. He allowed them three priests, and one hour's respite. First, they offered all the money they had as a ransom; when that was refused as already belonging to the captors, they snatched from each other's hands pencils and slips of paper and wrote hasty farewells to their wives. At 11 o'clock the first couple was led out into the churchyard and shot. Those within, hearing the discharge of the rifles, fell to embracing one another and as one couple after another was dragged out, the remainder with their poor pinioned arms clung to the posts, the walls, and even to the dead bodies of their comrades. By half-past 12 all was over, those whom the balls did not kill being bayonetted by a party of soldiers told off for that purpose. These horrors are telling against the Carlist cause; the more respectable of the party dubiously urging that Saballs has been provoked to reprisals, and that worse things are done on the Republican side.

The death is announced of Mr. J. H. Foley, R.A., the eminent sculptor. The discussions at the meetings of the British Association at Belfast lend Punch to suggest as an old song for new savans—"O dear! what can this matter be?" Dr. Percy, of the Royal School of Mines, writes to deny that any iron can have been found at Toowoomba, in Queensland, giving a return of 83 per cent. of metal, as the richest iron ore in the world, magnetite, contains only 72½ of iron, even when perfectly pure. The agent, Mr. Daintree, explains that the real return was 51·83, but that somehow the assay note came to be read the wrong way.

The half-yearly meeting of the Australian Meat Agency (Tallerman's) was held yesterday. A dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum was recommended. During the first six months of the present year, 7590 tons had been received from Australia, value £403,264. The company had been made the agents of the Murray Valley Vineyard, of Mr. J. T. Fallon, whose wines had just been sold in the English market at a price equal to £60 per pipe. There was hope of a good trade in Tasmanian hops. Reference was made to the loss sustained by the company through the death of its chairman, Mr. J. R. Stebbing, ex-mayor of Southampton.

Our magistrates are in great difficulty over the new Licensing Bill, not knowing how to decide what is a "populous place," or who is a "bona-fide traveller."

The London papers show good taste in publishing as little as possible about the Tilton-Beecher scandal.

CREDE.

NEW SOUTH WALES CRICKET ASSOCIATION.

A MEETING of the committee of the New South Wales Cricket Association was held last evening, at Tattersall's Hotel. Mr. R. Driver (President) occupied the chair, and there was a fair attendance of members. The honorary secretary read a letter (published some time since) from the Melbourne Cricket Club, suggesting that two intercolonial matches should be played during the present season, one in Melbourne and the other in Sydney. He also reported the receipt of a letter from the secretary of the Ballarat Cricket Club, suggesting that, in the event of an intercolonial match taking place at Melbourne next Christmas, the New South Wales Eleven should visit Ballarat, and play a local eighteen. After a brief discussion it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. Park, that at all future meetings of the association no delegate should be permitted to vote for any club whose fee had not been paid to the association, and the secretary was requested to communicate with the secretaries of various clubs, requiring them to conform to the rule of the association by forwarding their list of members.

THE INTERCOLONIAL MATCHES.

Mr. G. H. REID moved the following resolution,—"That this committee, being desirous that the intercolonial cricket matches between New South Wales and Victoria should be continued, agrees to the amended proposition submitted in the letter of the secretary of the Melbourne C. C., dated 27th September last, on the understanding that the Melbourne Club undertake to send an eleven to Sydney to play on dates to be fixed by the Cricket Association of this colony." After referring to the correspondence which took place between the association and the Melbourne Cricket Club, he pointed out that the club had so far come down from the position they took then as to submit to the association another proposition, something in the nature of a compromise, and he thought it only fair to the Melbourne Club to say that the tone of the letter in which that compromise was submitted was such as not to give them the slightest cause for offence. As they had now met the association in a friendly and courteous spirit, and had submitted what always appeared to him to be a reasonable settlement of the difficulty, he desired—although one of the foremost in censuring the proceedings of the Melbourne Club last season—to meet them half-way. He thought that no one who was really desirous that these important matches should be continued would have any difficulty in agreeing to this proposition. As Mr. Curtis observed last week it placed them in exactly the same position here, in a pecuniary sense, as if no break had occurred. The association would send a team to Victoria this year instead of last year, and they would have a match here to suit their own convenience in February or March next year. That was exactly what they should have had if a match had been played in Melbourne in the ordinary course. No doubt there would be this inconvenience, that they would have to play two matches in one season; but he thought that inconvenience was more apparent than real, because, after all, they would only have to send a team to Melbourne, and the team would come back in full practice, and, in all probability, be able to give a good account of themselves. They would then have a season's good earnest practice, and that, connected with the excitement not only amongst cricketers but throughout the colony, would, he thought, be of great service to cricket. He hoped for the credit of the reputation which the association had always enjoyed in these matters they would meet the overtures of the Melbourne Club in a friendly spirit.

Mr. P. C. CURTIS seconded the resolution.

Mr. E. TEECE opposed the resolution. He said that the committee of the Melbourne Club having found a failure in the fortiter in re style of negotiation had adopted the suaviter in modo. The question they had now to consider was the letter of the Melbourne Club, dated the 23rd September, and he did not intend to take any exception to it on the score of inconvenience. His objections were solely based upon principle. The only reason which induced the committee of the Melbourne Club to take exception to the cricketers of New South Wales visiting Melbourne last year was the visit of the All-England Eleven to that city; and he thought it could scarcely be doubted that the presence of Grace's eleven in Victoria was the means of bringing into the coffers of the Melbourne Club a much greater surplus than an intercolonial match would have produced. The fact that our eleven did not play in Melbourne last season was an absolute gain to the Melbourne Club, far beyond what would have resulted from a match with New South Wales. It had been maintained by the mover of the resolution that the association had a right to send a team last season, and as they had not done so, they ought to send them now—a step that would place them in exactly the same position. He (Mr. Teece) denied altogether the truth of such a proposition. They were quite prepared to send a team to Melbourne last year, but as this was not demanded—on the contrary, refused—they were relieved of all obligation, and any advantage they could obtain now he contended they were perfectly justified in adhering to. Were they justified in assuming that an intercolonial match in Victoria, at the end of the present year, was likely to be productive of any profit at all, and if not what guarantee was there that they would have a team from Victoria next year? Until they were satisfied that a Victorian team would be prepared to come here at the beginning of next year they were not justified in incurring this responsibility. He also thought it unlikely that a second intercolonial match played here would attract any interest.

Mr. SHERIDAN agreed with a great deal that had fallen from Mr. Teece, and thought, before they agreed to the proposition of the Melbourne Club, the association should have a guarantee that a return match would take place in Sydney.

Mr. A. L. PARK strongly opposed the proposition to have two matches this season, urging various objections, the principal of which was that it would be almost impossible to obtain the consent of the employers to the absence of gentlemen who might be selected to play, and who would have to attend practice for some weeks prior to each contest. He was certain also that if, as he anticipated, our men were beaten in Victoria, no interest would be taken by the public in the return match. He moved, as an amendment,—"That this association pledges itself to send a team to Victoria this season."

Mr. MANSFIELD supported the resolution, and considered that the best course to pursue would be to accept the proposition of the Melbourne Club. He thought the employers of Sydney, in whose service our leading cricketers were, had always exhibited a deep interest in cricket, and had never raised any serious obstacle to granting their employés sufficient time to practice for and play in intercolonial matches. If they adopted Mr. Park's amendment the association would be placed in a very peculiar position. Last year the association positively refused to accept the position which Mr. Park's amendment would now place them in.

Mr. GIBSON moved the following amendment,—"That this association having a desire to continue the intercolonial matches will send a team to Victoria this season upon the understanding that the return match shall take place in Sydney either this or next season as the New South Wales Cricket Association may hereafter determine upon."

After some further discussion, Mr. REID briefly replied, expressing a desire to withdraw his resolution, which however was objected to.

The amendment moved by Mr. Gibson was put and carried, and the honorary secretary was requested to write to the committee of the Melbourne Club intimating that the association had consented to the dates proposed for the next intercolonial match in Melbourne.

THE CHALLENGE CUP MATCHES.

On the motion of Mr. GIBSON, it was resolved,—"That the next contest for the Challenge Cup should take place on the 9th and 14th November next, between the present holders (the Alberts) and the University."

THE INTERCOLONIAL TROPHIES.

On the motion of Mr. CURTIS, it was resolved,—"That the trophies to Messrs. Coates, Powell, and C. Kellick, to which reference had been made so frequently, be paid for out of the funds of the association."

The meeting adjourned until Monday evening next.

In the Import markets there was more business doing to-day for the supply of country trade demands. The stock of breadstuffs is not large, and holders of Adelaide brands maintain prices steadily. Candles are firmer, small sales of D. R. J. at 10d. A fair demand exists for dried fruits; we heard of 5½d. being paid for very prime samples of currants. Bulk ale is held for improving prices, short shipments having been advised by the mail. No. 6 fencing wire and galvanized iron is not obtainable from first hands. A sale of Normanby Company's refined copper assaying 99 per cent. was effected at £80. China oil to arrive was placed at 4s. 2d., and small lines of kerosene at 1s. 11d. duty paid. Teas and sugars move steadily for trade requirements at late rates.

In local produce we note a further improvement; maize-holders to-day asking 4s. 10d. to 4s. 11d. for prime; lucerne hay, worth £5 5s.

The decreased demand noticeable in the Stock and Share market during the past week has continued into this, and the tone of the market continues in favour of buyers. Bank stock has opened weaker, City were offered at 10½. Commercial, fully paid, sold at 88½, and Joint Stock at 13¾, with sellers at the same prices. National of Queensland were quitted at 5¾—a decline of 2s. 6d. Steam shares a shade firmer. Australasian sold at 23. Clarence and Richmond, old wanted at 3⅜, holders asking 3⅞, buyers of Illawarra at 5½, sellers at 5¾. The news of the loss of the Kingsbridge has stopped all inquiry for Insurance shares, though so far as is at present known there are only two local companies at all heavily involved. Two sales reported at the Brokers' Board to-day, viz., General at 40s. and United at 18s. 6d. were made at the close of last week. Debentures unaltered. New South Wales long dated firm at 109.

The report (a copy of which appeared in Sydney Morning Herald of the 16th instant), adopted this afternoon at the half-yearly meeting of the Sydney Insurance Co., exhibits a very gratifying result. After payment of the previous dividend, a balance of £22,502 10s. 5d. remained at the credit of contingent fund. The half-year's earnings amounted to £9771 9s. 11d., of which £7296 1s. 7d., represented the premium revenue. On the other hand, the total expenditure, after providing for all outstanding liabilities, was only £3931 5s. 1d., thus leaving a net balance of £5840 4s. 10d. to be added to contingent fund, thereby increasing it to £28,342 15s. 3d., the standing reserve of £10,000 remaining intact. A dividend and bonus equal to 7½ per cent. for the half-year were declared; and, after re-electing the retiring directors and auditors, the meeting closed with a cordial vote of thanks to the directors and officers of the company.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench sold by auction to-day, the residue of M'Vittie's estate, Liverpool-street, Hyde Park; Elizabeth, Goulburn, and Nithsdale streets. There was a large attendance of buyers, and for every lot sold a brisk competition. The following is the result of the sale:—

Fig Tree cottage and block of land, having 64 feet frontage to Liverpool-street, £2500, to F. H. Needs; Nithsdale street: lot 2, 15 feet frontage, at £6, to R. J. Dick; lots 3 and 4, 30 feet, at £5, to A. M'Leod; lots 5 and 6, 30 feet, at £4 16s., to R. Oliver, jun.; lots 7, 8, and 9, 45 feet, at £4 10s., to C. H. Bond; lots 10, 11, and 12, 45 feet, at £4 5s., to J. Gregory; lots 13 and 14, 30 feet, at £4 10s., to D. Mackey; lots 15 and 16, 30 feet, at £4 10s., to H. Fenton; lots 17 to 21, 75 feet, at £5 per foot, to J. M'Elveny; lots 35 and 36, 30 feet, at £6, to J. Cotter; lots 32, 33, and 34, 45 feet, at £5 5s.; lots 30 and 31, 30 feet, at £5 10s., to P. Shergold; lots 28 and 29, 30 feet, at £5 5s., to J. Harvey; lots 26 and 27, 105 feet, with Nithsdale Cottage thereon, at £8 15s., to J. Mahony; lots 24 and 25, 30 feet, at £5, to R. Lipscombe; lot 22, 15 feet at £5; lot 23, 15 feet, at £5, to P. Barrett—these lots have depths of from 60 to 62½ feet each. Elizabeth-street: Lots 37 and 39, 45 feet 4 inches, at £16; lot 38, 22 feet 8 inches, at £15 10s. Goulburn-street: Lot 44, 24 feet 4 inches, with the cottage thereon, £320, to Thomas Miller; lots 40, 41, and 42, 51 feet 6 inches, at £8 per foot, to W. Baldry; lot 43, 24 feet 4 inches, at £7 7s., to T. Greenhill; lot 45, 21 feet 4 inches, at £7, to J. Miller. Total amount of sale, £8041 2s.

The following extract from the London and China Express of August 28th, confirms the remarks published in last Saturday's Herald, regarding Mr. Forbes's financial position.

The acceptances of Paul S. Forbes (who has been of late years in London and Paris) for £40,000 have been protested, and judgment given on them. Mr. Forbes was, up to June last, a partner in Messrs. Russell and Co.'s, of China, but these acceptances were given by Mr. Forbes in his own name, on behalf of a steam line from San Francisco to Australia, in which he took a prominent part. Of course the company has gone to smash, and the unfortunate passengers who paid their passage-money have been victimised. It is to be regretted that a merchant of Mr. Forbes's position and standing should be mixed up with so miserable a business. It is another instance of the danger of allowing a partner to remain in a firm who does not confine his operations to business connected with the firm. To have a partner or partners roving about Europe entering into all kinds of speculation is an element of danger which firms like Messrs. Russell and Co. should not incur. On the first rumour of the affair in London it was stated that the disaster would affect his firm, but inquiries at Messrs. Baring Brothers dispelled any fears on this head, and we are glad to find that Messrs. Russell and Co. will not be in any way affected by it.

Calcutta advices to September 16 report that there was nothing on the berth for Australia. Rice dull at 4 rupees 13 annas for Patna; new crop prospects favourable. Cornsacks quoted at 37 rupees. Castor oil advancing. Very little doing in coals, Australian offering at 17 to 18 rupees.

Our latest from Colombo states that the decline in coffee in the home markets had checked all business, and that quotations were quite nominal, say 95s. 6d. for plantation, and 67s. for native; coir fibre, 19s. to 20s.; yarn, 17s. to 20s. Coals had fallen—55s. for mixed Cardiff, and Newcastle at full quotation.

From Batavia, under date September 9, we learn that the Solid, Univers, and City of Halifax, had sailed for Melbourne with 1707 tons sugar, leaving the Mocq Bailey, Canny Scot, and Adelphoi, on the berth to follow. Messrs. J. Peet and Co. advise, respecting the markets:—

Arrack 4 per cent. overproof. Considerable sales at f 183½ per leaguer of 133 imperial gallons. Coffee, Java.—Shortly after the issue of our last several good sized parcels changed hands at f 60 to f 61½ per picul for Blue Bean and at f 58 per picul for ordinary preparation. Telegrams from Europe to hand since advising a decline have had a depressing influence on this side, and the Government sale of 24,000 piculs ordinary preparation held on the 27th ultimo averaged only f 58·62 per picul which may be considered the nominal value to-day, although holders are retired expecting a recovery. On this basis blue bean would command f 57 to f 58. The auctions still to be held by the Government during the current year are as follows:—8th October, 25,000 piculs, deliverable at Passaroeang; 9th November, 28,000 piculs, of which 10,000 piculs deliverable here and 18,000 piculs at Passaroeang. Coffee, Padang: The third quarterly sale will be held at Padang on or about the 23rd instant and will comprise, it is expected, nearly 40,000 piculs. The average at the June sale was f 60.62 per picul. Refining sugar: The weather has improved, although still unseasonably rainy. Values tend upwards. Sales of balances of crops and of selected numbers have been made at f 13½ per picul usual basis and a further advance seems not improbable. Grocery Sugars: A tender of f 17.31 per picul, bags included, was accepted for the white crystals referred to in our last, but only for 16,000 piculs, the planter declining to dispose of a larger quantity at that figure. No other transactions are reported. The Canny Scot, 325 tons, has been chartered to load a cargo of yellow crystals contracted for some time ago. Rice in rather more request. We value white Batavia (suitable for redressing) at f 150 to f 210 per koyang of 27 piculs, without bags. Rattans: As last quoted. Pepper, black: Transactions on a trifling scale at f 31 to f 31½ per picul. Nutmegs, Mace: Market barely stocked; prices unchanged. Cassia: Quoted at Padang at f 25 to f 27 per picul. Freights: Rates to Holland have undergone a further marked decline, owing to the large quantity of tonnage bound to proceed in that direction. We quote for sugar f 10 to f 20 per last equal to £8 5s to £2 10s; per ton. English conditions. In other directions freights are comparatively better, especially for handy sized craft, which are wanted for the Channel for orders and elsewhere. Current figures are as follows:—To the Channel for large ships of 1000 to 1500 tons register, £3 5s; for handy vessels, £3 12s 6d to £3 15s; to the States, £3 10s; and to Australia 37s 6d to 40s per ton, all for sugar in baskets. There are a considerable number of vessels unemployed, and we do not now see much prospect of any immediate improvement in freights. Steamers are booking coffee to Holland at 190 per last, equal to about £4 per ton. Exchange.—Early in the mail rates were firm and sales of 6 months. Bank paper on London were effected at f 11.80, and of credits at f 11.77½. There is now however more anxiety to sell, and closing quotations are—on London, bank f 11.77½, credits f 11.72½ to f 11.75, and documents f 11.80 to f 11.82½. On Holland bank paper at 6 months' date ½ to ¾ per cent., and private ¾ to 1½ per cent. discount. On Singapore, bank on demand f 2.45 to f 2.48 per dollar. On Australia, nominal. Australian Exports—Flour: Market fully supplied. Sales of country brands ex Vigilant at an average of about f 19 per bag. Coals: Saleable although in less active request. No transactions are reported, but Australian may be quoted at f 18 to f 21 per ton, according to size of cargo and port of delivery.

The Melbourne Argus of Friday says:—

In the Import markets an exceedingly quiet day has been passed, the arrival of the mail steamer and the perusal of home and foreign correspondence having completely absorbed all attention. Breadstuffs have not been marked by much animation, though there is a brisk demand for flour. In one instance a line of 50 tons changed hands at £13. Bakers' lots are quitted at £13 7s 6d to £13 10s, bags returned. An easier feeling was evinced in regard to wheat at the auction sale this morning. The bidding was very slow, and only 5s 1½d was realised for Kyneton, while 5s 4d was all that could be got for prime northern; there was, moreover, very little sold. Oats are rising in value. We hear of feeding having been placed at 3s 3d and 3s 6d, while as much as 3s 9d has been paid for milling. There is very little stock. Maize is steady at 5s 6d. Under the hammer a small shipment of Fiji was taken up at 5s 6d. 350 bags of Cape barley were disposed of at 4s 10d. Private telegrams lately received from London quote New Kent hops at £11, and quality inferior. In sugars there is not much doing privately; a trade inquiry for brewing is still experienced, and we hear of sales at £15 10s. Under the hammer about 7642 mats and bags Yarraville refined were disposed of at £30 to £36 5s, and 350 bags low grainy yellow Mauritius were at same time quitted at £33. By the Elizabeth, which has arrived at Adelaide, Mauritius advices to 4th September have been received, but all the information contained therein has been anticipated by telegrams to hand fully a month ago. In teas, we note the quittance of a few hundred half-chests congous at 1s 5d to 2s 1d. Under the hammer, 1000 packages new scouchong and fancy teas were cleared off at 1s 0 to 1s 10½d, while 1280 packages low congous were sold at 9d to 10d. A good demand is reported for oilmen's stores. By auction, various parcels were also disposed of.

At a meeting of the Melbourne creditors of Messrs. Peters, Bettelt, and Co., held to-day, it was resolved not to accept any composition till everything concerning the estate had been thoroughly investigated.

MINING.

MONDAY EVENING.

IN this morning's market Coal shares opened weak. Wallsend sold at £18 13s. 6d. to 18½; sellers at the lower rate. Waratah offered at 16½. Peak Downs Copper were done at 11s. 6d. There was a decidedly better feeling in Hill End stocks. Fischer Beards sold at 4s., Paxtons at 3s. 6d., Star of Peace at 9s. to 9s. 3d. Beyers and Holtermann's wanted at 4s. 6d.

Guiding Star G. M. Co.—The mining manager reports, under date 17th October:—"About 12 feet under the tunnel level, in a reef about 2 feet big, we discovered some coarse colours of gold in the centre of the body of stone. I have noticed a change in the veins becoming easier, also the strata, bringing an increase of water. Considering our position south-west of the run of gold lost on the easterly veins, of the once famous mines, I am now in hopes of picking it up."

Great Dividing Range Tin Co.—The manager reports that last week's yield of ore was 33 cwt., making the quantity on hand 42 cwt.

Ruby Tin Co.—The manager reports that last week's yield of ore was 1 ton, and 25 bags, weighing 37 cwt., were despatched for Sydney, leaving about 1 ton on hand. The mining manager, writing from the mine on October 10th, states:—"I am glad to say that we have struck very good tin on the Tea Tree Creek, and, as there are from 14 to 16 acres of a 'flat,' I am in hopes it will pay well for working. I have had to open a fresh face on the work, so that there has been a great deal of dead work done this week. I have also struck very good tin again in the banks, but very hard stripping, and cemented dirt. I am in hopes of it turning out good."

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

[RICHARD GIBSON AND CO.]

Fat Cattle.—Only about 480 came to hand, which were disposed of to-day, and another draft of 170 head will be offered to-morrow. Sales, so far, show a slight advance on last week's value. We quote best beef 31s to 33s 6d per 100 lbs., or say best bullocks up to £16; good to £13; medium to £10; inferior to £8. Best cows up to £12, good to £9, medium to £7 10s, inferior £5. We have sold several small drafts from the vicinity of town, from Mr. W. J. Clarke's Rock Bank Estate, and for Mr. James M'Crae, Melton, and others, at prices ranging from £5 10s to £11 15s 6d.

Fat Calves.—Although the supply was small, sales were not so brisk as usual, only prime small vealers being in good request.

Fat Sheep.—21,000 yarded. This supply although not so large as the previous week caused sales to rule heavy, the late hot weather, together with the increased consumption of lamb, also tending to cause a dull market although a clearance was ultimately effected at prices very little under last week's currencies. Best merino wethers made up to 15s 6d; ditto ewes, 11s 6d. We sold 2456 ewes and wethers for Mr. James Tyson, Tupra; 1763 wethers for Messrs. M'Gaw and Co., Burrabogie, at the top price in to-day's market, and a small draft of ewes for Mr. M. Loughnan, Glenlearnan.

Fat Lambs.—2840 penned, quality good, all of which met a brisk demand at more satisfactory prices. We sold 86 for Mr. M. Loughnan, Glenlearnan.

Store Stock.—The demand for cattle is not quite so brisk, and prices are slightly easier, although some sales in the westward district realised fully late rates. In sheep there is very little doing, and sales are dull with a downward tendency in prices.

12th October.

[RYAN AND HAMMOND.]

Fat Cattle.—433 drawn for, which, with the addition of about 206 head odd lots, formed a supply of about 600 for the week. The majority of the cattle were of inferior, middling, and second quality, with some prime lots, the latter being from the Bulloo and the Wilson, and delivered in splendid condition, the averages being respectively £12 15s and £12 4s 5d. Upon the whole cattle sold satisfactorily, the superior lots making about last quotations, with a brisk sale, whilst for middling and second quality there was a decided advance. We quote—Good and prime bullocks, at from £12 to £14; a few prize from £14 to £16; second quality and middling, from £7 to £9; others from £3 10s. Very few cows penned, a few prime made from £8 to £11 10s; others from £4 10s to £8, according to quality. We have sold—72 cows and bullocks from the Deep Creek to £8 17s 6d; and 82 cows and bullocks for Mr. William Cherry, jun., Keverell Park, to £10 2s 6d; also drafts for Messrs. Robert and James Cherry.

Fat Calves.—45 forward, good quality making 40s to 45s; second quality and middling, 25s to 35s; inferior, from 10s. We have sold—13 from the Deep Creek, averaging 31s 3d.

Fat Sheep.—About 21,000 penned for the week's supply, nearly all of which were of good medium to prime quality, and were on the whole about the best lot of sheep that have been in the yards for a considerable time. The markets opened without animation, and prices, for all but prime sheep, suffered a slight decline. We quote—Good and prime wethers, at from 12s 6d to 15s—a few 15s 6d; second quality and middling, 9s to 10s 6d; good and prime ewes, 10s to 12s 6d; second quality and middling, 8s to 9s; inferior, nominal. No crossbreds forward. The supply was disposed of as follows:—Melbourne Meat Preserving Co., 5543; trade, 11,433; country buyers, 2000; sundries, 2100. We have sold—2000 wethers for Mr. John Simson, Mongall, at 15s; all round; and 4000 from Queensland, light weights and short wool, at 11s to [illegible].

Fat Lambs.—2800 forward; market brisk, but without any advance in price. Best made from 8s to 10s; second quality and middling, 5s to 7s; others from 3s.

Store Cattle are not in much demand, only well-bred bullocks commanding attention.

Store Sheep are in slightly increased demand.

October 14.

ADELAIDE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

[DEAN, LAUGHTON, AND CO.]

Fat Cattle.—The market has latterly been better supplied, both as regards the number of cattle offered and the quality, and much having arrived in superior condition to all others for a length of time. Though prices have ruled high, yet taking weight and quality into account they have really been easier for the trade. We have sold—23 good and prime bullocks, from the Darling, averaging £12 15s; 13 medium bullocks, a few inferior, for Mr. R. Holland, averaging £10 [illegible]; 10 head for sundry owners. Quotations—Prime bullocks, £12 10s to £14; good ditto, £10 10s to £12; inferior from £7. But few cows in.

Fat Sheep.—Though the number of sheep within a short distance of town has latterly been enormous, the ordinary trade requirements, together with the preserving and boiling operations carried on, and the demand for grazing, have made a steady impression on the supplies, which have principally been of unrivalled quality. We have disposed of 4300. Quotations—Best wethers, 16s to 17s; other ditto, from 11s 6d.

Fat Lambs.—The trade demand being good and supplies moderate, prices have been maintained. We have sold 600. Quotations—6s to 11s 6d.

Store Sheep.—The demand for delivery after shearing is as yet quiet. We have several lots of ewes for sale to the North and on York's Peninsula, and call attention to our sale on an early date of 7000 full-mouthed ewes for Mr. Alexander McCulloch. Stations.—Very little doing.

IMPORTS OF SEWING-MACHINES FOR 1873.
The Imports of the WHEELER and WILSON MACHINES show an increase of over 150 PER CENT., or Four times more than Singer's, as proved by the JOURNAL OF COMMERCE.
OVER ONE MILLION in use, and the demand steadily increases.
The great success of the WHEELER and WILSON CO. is, without doubt, due to the Superior Excellence of their machines, and the LITTLE EXERTION required to work them, which renders them the most suitable FOR FEMALES.
These qualities are owing to the Rotatory Hook System on which they are constructed, and which combines GREAT SPEED with surprising durability and simplicity.
It has been clearly proved that the genuine WHEELER and WILSON MACHINE will do ONE-THIRD MORE WORK, and has double the durability of the Singer.
The new NUMBER SIX, for Manufacturers, will sew any material from MUSLIN to MOLESKIN, and LEATHER WORK of all kinds.
We warrant every genuine W. and W. Machine to give entire satisfaction.
